RIGHTS OF ADMISSION RESERVED: Just as the Latin legal maxim visa ad portum reflects the principle that a visa does not guarantee entry into a country but merely allows the bearer to travel to a port of entry. Similarly, membership of DRGCC doesn't guarantee entry into the country club, the management reserves the right to entry and can deny it to members it deems unfit.

The DRGCC Management prioritizes the safety and security of all members and guests. Security is provided 24/7 by ex-military personnel within the club premises. However, there remains a minimal risk of mishaps, injuries, or loss of property. The club will not be held responsible for any such incidents.

To maintain a safe environment, the conduct of individuals must align with the club's socio-moral standards. Any behavior deemed disruptive or inappropriate may result in the person being denied entry or asked to leave the premises. Members are advised to store their valuables, such as mobile phones, watches, and wallets, in the provided facilities. The club cannot be held liable for any loss or theft.

Private guards, whether armed or unarmed and vehicles carrying such guards are strictly prohibited from entering the country club's premises. Members must identify themselves with their membership card, vehicle sticker and provide their membership number upon request by security staff.

Photography of security personnel and official areas is prohibited. If unsure, members should always ask for clarification. For security purposes, CCTV coverage is in place, and individuals entering the premises may be recorded, photographed, and have their personal details saved for later use.

The rules outlined here are not exhaustive. The club reserves the right to introduce new rules applicable to all members, both existing and new. In emergencies, such as fire, natural disasters, or terrorist attacks, members and guests must follow the instructions of security personnel. All vehicles, people, and luggage entering the club may be scanned for security reasons.

All members, dependents, family members, nominees, and guests of Defence Raya Golf & Country Club (DRGCC) must strictly adhere to the Club's Disciplinary Policy. Misconduct, which includes indecent behavior, causing disturbances, unauthorized use of Club property, or illegal activities, will result in disciplinary action. This may include suspension, termination of membership, or legal recourse to recover damages.

Upon receiving a complaint, the Club will issue a Show Cause Notice with specific allegations. Members will have seven (7) days to respond. During this period, membership may be suspended. A hearing will be held, and if found guilty, the Club may cancel membership and recover losses. In cases of admitted guilt, the Club may forgo a hearing and still cancel or terminate the membership, forfeiting 50% of the paid amount to cover damages. The Club may show leniency in some cases, issuing warnings or suspensions instead.

All decisions by the Club Management, the Defence Housing Authority (DHA), and affiliates are final and not subject to appeal. Ignorance of these rules (Ignorantia juris non excusat) is not an excuse.
